OUTLOOK

Trend is Positive. Support levels come around 10,800 - 10,772. On the upside resistance levels come around 10,870 - 10,915.

MARKET BRIEF

The index marches for a third consecutive day forming three green candlesticks. Yesterday’s session faced the resistance line of the channel around 11,800 and corrected the decline from 11,592 – 10,497 by 23.6% at 10,755. The 38.2% level of 10,915 coincides with the 55 & 90-dema’s. The follow through test is to gain above the 55 & 90-dema’s to clear the channel from its down path. On the downside, the index has regained levels from 10,652-10,779 as the congestion range for support. Looking at momentum, the RSI has recovered from a minor oversold state at 28.04 and faces a test of resistance at 56.15. Ability for this indicator to hold above 56.15 would be a sign of a buildup in momentum that would push levels above the shorter averages.

On the downside, the index has regained the 10,652-10,779 congestion range as support. On momentum, the RSI has recovered from a minor oversold state at 28.04 and faces a test of resistance at 56.15. Holding above 56.15 would signal a build-up in momentum that would push levels above the shorter averages.

STOCK BRIEF

This is a follow up of our outlook presented on 26 July. The stock was developing above the shorter averages and further looking to gain above the 200-dema but a resistance at 17.00 was a barrier to overcome. Yesterday's price action surged above 17.00. The decline from 28.40-13.88 is under recovery with yesterday's close above the 23.6% retracement at 17.31. The current target on break above 17.00 is at 19.43. Support would look to develop around 17.00-17.31. Risk is on break below 15.74
